AQWEST – Delivering Water, Shaping a Community

AQWEST, the trading name of the Bunbury Water Corporation, has been at the heart of Bunbury's story for over a century.

Established in 1905 as the Bunbury Water Board, its mission was simple but vital: to source, treat, and deliver reliable water to a growing community. More than 100 years later, that commitment is stronger than ever.

In 1996/97, AQWEST emerged through a major evolution – modernising its structure while honouring its rich legacy. Today, it stands as a forward-thinking organisation powered by cutting-edge technology, advanced engineering expertise, and a deep dedication to quality.

While the name and systems have evolved, the core promise remains unchanged: delivering high-quality water at a reasonable cost to the people of Bunbury.

AQWEST continues to meet the needs of a thriving and expanding city, ensuring every drop supports a vibrant future.

LIVE WHERE YOU WORK

Set just 175 km south of Perth, Bunbury is more than a location – it's a lifestyle. Nestled along the stunning Southwest coast of Western Australia, this coastal gem offers the perfect balance of work, leisure, and natural beauty.

Finish your day by the ocean, explore nearby world-class wineries, dine at exceptional restaurants, or unwind on pristine beaches. With water surrounding the city on three sides, Bunbury delivers breathtaking scenery wherever you turn.

Add to that lively arts and cultural scenes, diverse community events, and all the modern amenities, you'll find an unbeatable place to build both your career and your life.

AQWEST VALUES & VISION

To be an independent, viable, and competitive water utility in the Western Australian water industry.
